

Student Debt Letter Correspondence

Help Students Improve College Financing Decisions

Students are making high-stakes borrowing decisions — often without a clear picture of what repayment really looks like.

As loan balances grow and repayment becomes more complex, colleges and universities are under pressure to improve transparency, support informed borrowing, and help students prepare for life after graduation.

College Cost Meter® gives your institution an effective way to deliver clear, personalized loan information that helps students understand their debt, consider future repayment, and make more informed financial decisions, before problems arise.

Customization

Customize your content and data and link to helpful resources.

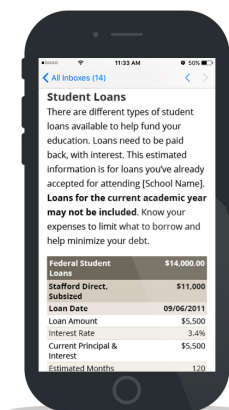

Dynamic Data

A school-generated file and NSLDS data is collected to provide your students with the personalized financial aid details you want them to know.

Clear Information

Introduce your desired data to students in an easy-to-understand, responsive format.

- Calculates and clearly presents student loan interest rate, repayment terms, estimated payment, and total loan cost.
- Gently encourages students to consider their total indebtedness and reduce borrowing.
- Offers percent of borrowing limit to keep students aware and informed.

Compliance

Helps you meet state-specific student debt letter legislation requirements.

- Audit reports list the students who were sent correspondence.
- Search for exact communication copies to support compliance or student counseling.
- A PDF or HTML file provides copies of all correspondence sent.
- Student data protected in accordance with FERPA; ADA compliant communications.

Affordable and Easy To Implement

Creating a student debt letter takes time and resources. Use your people and money to solve bigger challenges. A $2,500 annual subscription fee covers use of the solution, unlimited email sends, and a 24/7 dashboard with reporting.

Convenient

There's no installation required. Our high-touch support helps configure your correspondence, upload and test your file, and review the communication prior to sending to students.
